

Ravi went to the zoo. He saw many animals there. The lion was with the lioness, looking very handsome.

The tiger looked a little fierce, he roared at Ravi. The monkeys were jumping and making faces.

The birds were making too much noise. The pretty peacock was the only one standing quietly.

The giraffe was taller than anyone else. He looked down on everyone. Ravi even saw an ostrich. It was walking around.

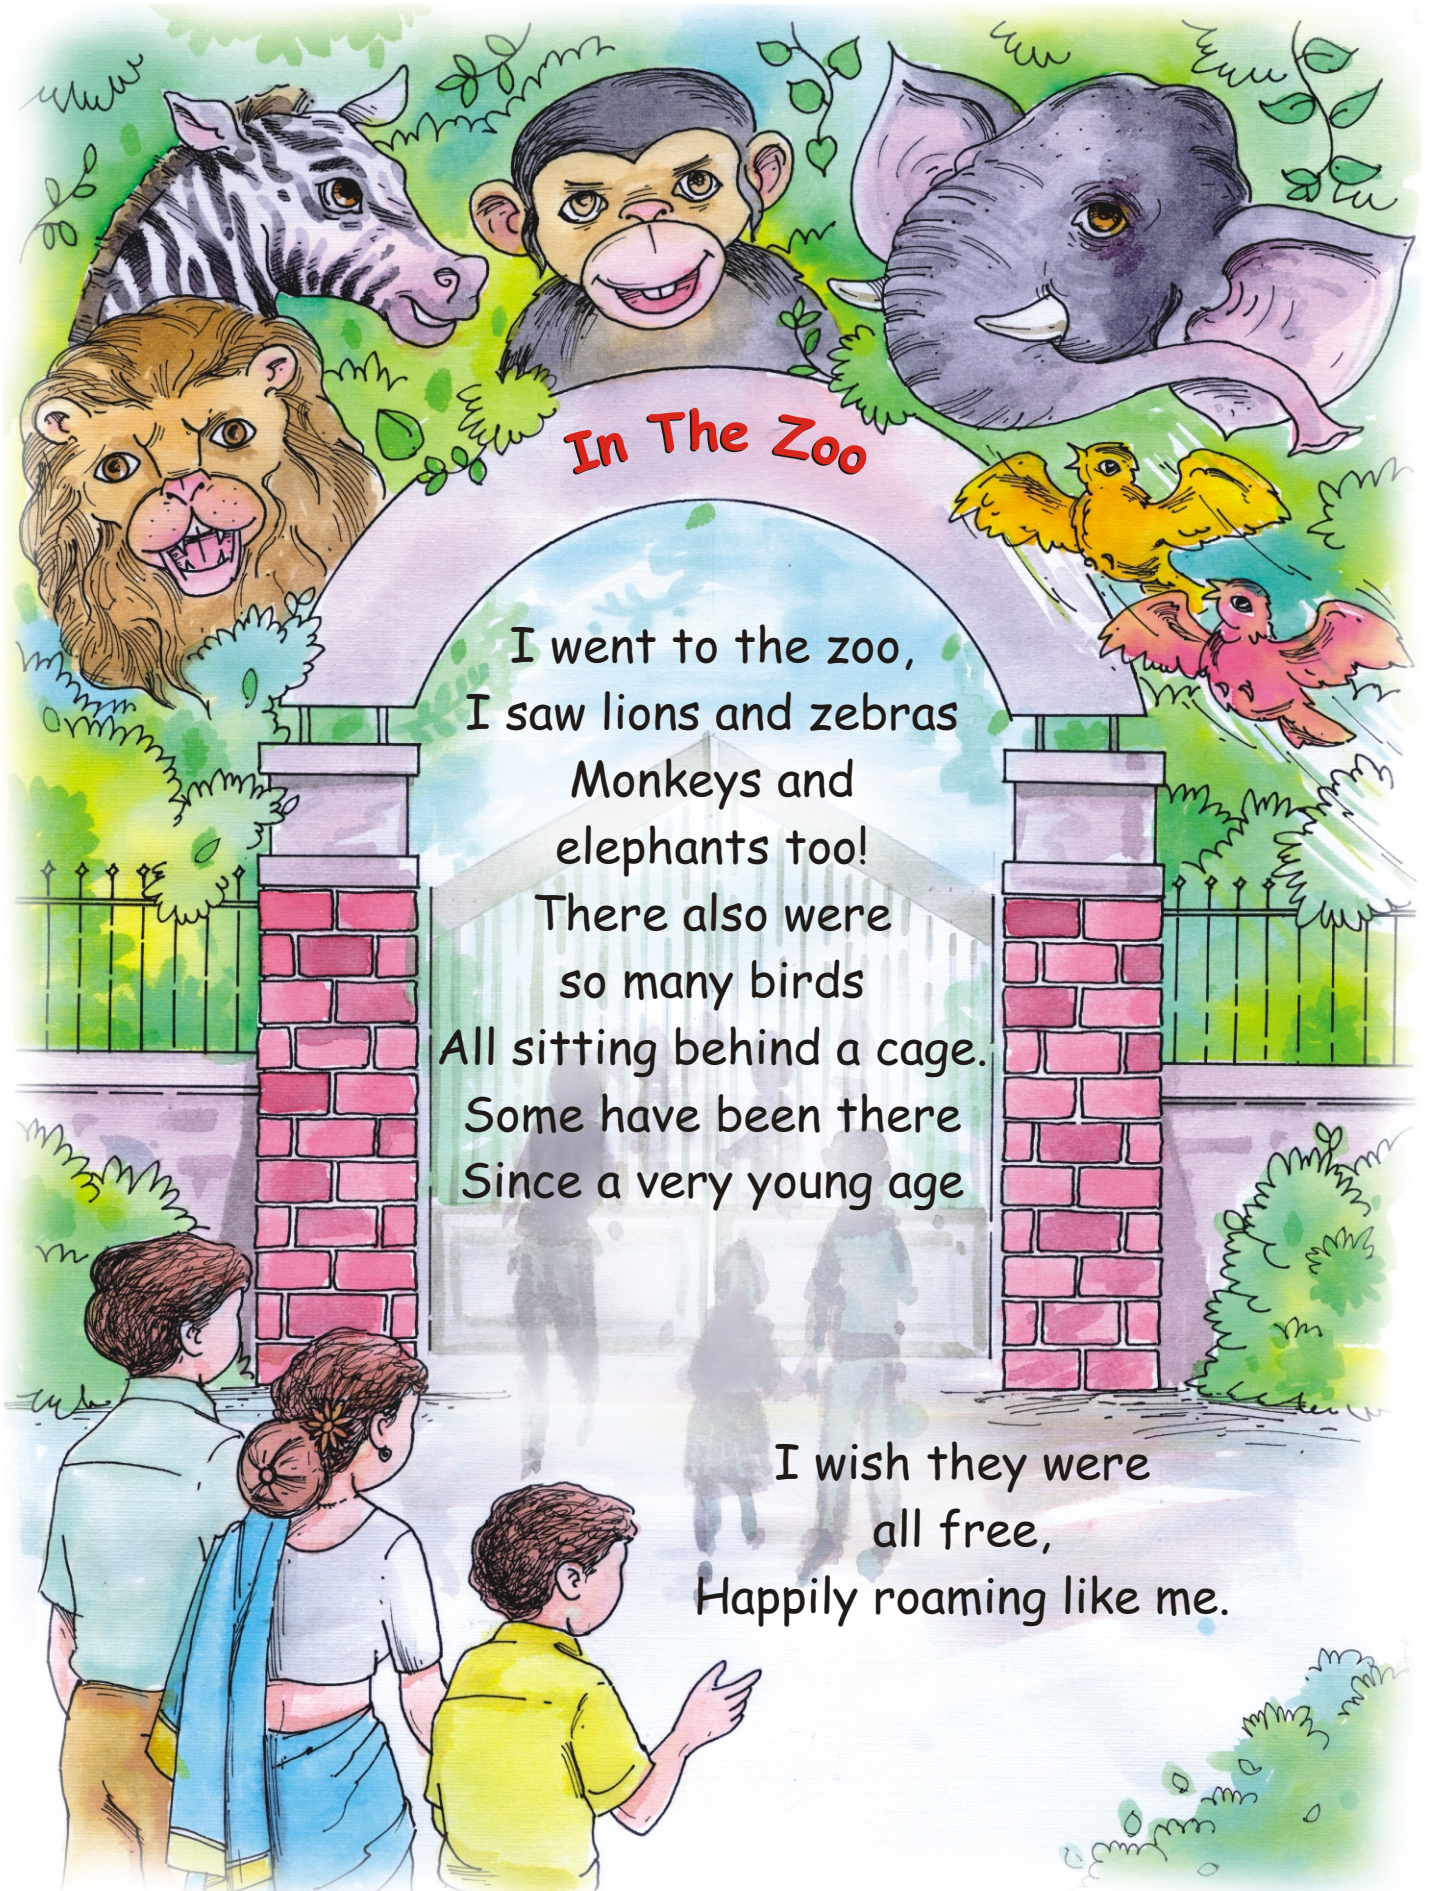

Ravi fed the little deer a leaf, It seemed to say thank you to him.

The chimpanzee looked quite bored.
So Ravi tried making faces at it.
But, he turned away.

When leaving the zoo,
Ravi said, "You animals
are all my friends.
I am happy to meet you."

In The Zoo

I went to the zoo,
I saw lions and zebras
Monkeys and elephants too!
There also were so many birds
All sitting behind a cage.
Some have been there
Since a very young age

I wish they were
all free,
Happily roaming like me.
